Forecast For Strathclyde
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 1600 on Thursday 02 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Patchy rain or snow Thursday evening. Sunny spells on Friday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Patchy mostly light rain, preceded by light sleet or snow inland, will spread east this evening. Drier, clearer weather will spread in during the early hours, with a few showers reaching the Argyll Isles by morning. A few icy patches. Minimum temperature 1 deg C (34 deg F).

Friday:
Many places will have a dry and bright day. Clouding over across Argyll later with some rain by evening. Maximum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Sunny intervals and a few showers on Saturday, becoming windy. Dry with some sunshine on Sunday but cold. Sleet and snow overnight into Monday then brighter with scattered rain showers.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.